FULL OF GOOD READING. The Saturday Star This Week and

What It Will Contain.

The big Saturday Star this week will contain one feature which is sure to prove of value and interest to the reading public of Washington. Mr. Louis Herbert Moore, a well-known and successful journalist of London, England, was recently in this city as a special correspondent of the London Post. While he was here arrangements were made whereby he will furnish a weekly London letter to The Star, and as he is in a position to speak with authority on the topics of the day as they come up in England's capital, his letters are sure to be read with much interest. He has returned to London, and in his first letter, which appears tomorrow, he deals at some length with the question of a possible conflict between France and England, and the results that such a war would have upon the map of Europe.

The short story this week is by Cutliffe Hyne, a writer who has had a number of bright and readable stories in The Star during the past year or two. It is called "The Confessions of a Q. C.," and describes the clever way in which the mystery of a supposed murder in the smoking coach of an English railway train was unraveled through the efforts of a young counsellor. The evidence in the case almost certainly fastened the crime upon the dead man's companion, but a very minute point carefully followed up proved that it was the result of a remarkable accident. In addition to this The Saturday Star will contain the fourth installment of S. R. Crockett's charming serial, "The Black Following are a few of the other special literary features in tomorrow's big paper: TO THE HOLY LAND (Illustrated).

An account of the remarkable pilgrimage of the Emperor of Germany to Jerusalem, with something about other famous Crusaders of the past.

CHRISTIAN CITIZENSHIP.

Convention (Red to Discuss Nation's New Responsibilities. A call has been issued for a national Christian Citizenship convention, to be held here December 13 to 15 next. The subjects to be discussed are:

Should suffrage be limited by educational tests or otherwise in the new island territorles?

Should civil service reform be extended to the new island offices? Should the national laws forbidding prize fights, bull fights, restricting divorces, and forbidding bigamy and related evils be extended to our new island territories? Should the American civil Sabbath be also extended to these islands? Should the canteen be abolished? Should the policy of prohibition be main-tained in Alaska and the Indian territory and extended to our new island territories?

The convention is to discuss the new responsibilities of the United States in consponsibilities of the childed states in con-nection with the war against Spain, and the colonial policy. The circular, calling the convention, has just been issued by the convention, has just been issued by Messrs. Levering, Johnston, Josiah Strong, Anthony Comstock, Mrs. Mary H. Hunt, Mrs. M. D. WEST VIRGINIA POLITICS SEVENTIETH ANNIVERSARY and Fourth.

Special Correspondence of The Evening Star. WHEELING, W. Va., November 3, 1898.

In 1806 the vote for Capt. B. B. Dovener in the first, or Wheeling, congressional district was 25,242, against 21,678 for W. W. Arnett, his democratic opponent. With 3,564 plurality to fall back on, Mr. Dovener feels rather comfortable, although it is conceded that the disappointed post office applicants will cut into this, as well as the loss from apathy in an off year. His opponent, Jackson V. Blair, is a young lawyer from West Union, a country town of 1,500 people. M . Blair is connected with various secret societies and is popular as a mixer in the rural communities. His canvass has been quiet, and although a close vote is expected, the democrats practically concede his defeat. Capt. Dovener will gain some democratic votes in the river towns by reason of being a champion of Ohio river improvement and of being a member of the committee on rivers and harbors.

In the second, or Grafton, district a bat-tle royal is being waged between the pres-ent representative, A. G. Dayton (rep.), and John T. McGraw (dem.). Although Mr. Dayton had a majority of 2,251 in 1896, his friends are alarmed as to the outcome. Post office fights have alienated a good many of his friends, while McGraw is a shrewd politician and popular and has many friends at work for him. The chances are with Dayton by a narrow margin.

A rather hard fight has been in progress in the third or Charleston district between in the third or Charleston district because William Seymour Edwards, republican, and William Seymour Edwards, republican Ludge David E. the dimocratic nominee, Judge David E. Jehnston of Mercer county. C. P. Dorr, the present incumbent, was set aside for Mr. Edwards, and his friends are very lukewarm in helping the latter. However, the republican majority in this district in 1896 was 3,631, and as the post office squabbles are minimized, the republicans are counting on electing Mr. Edwards by a safe ma-

There is perhaps more political interest Gotham is brimful, as usual, of timely Suggestions for many and a suggestion of the suggestions for many and a suggestion of the have well attended meetings fight is between Judge Romeo H. Freer, republican, and George I. Neal, aged twenty-nine years, "the penniless wonder," as he has been dubbed by his friends. On ac-count of the trouble-breeding distribution of the post offices, Representative Warren Miller withdrew from the contest for the republican nomination, and Judge Freer was named. The latter is an old soldier, an was named. The latter is an out somer, an elequent speaker, and a popular campaigner, but is in a district that is nearer normally democratic than the others. The republican plurality in 1896 was 1,168. There is a strong free silver sentiment in the district, and the contest is mainly on that istrict, and the contest is mainly on that issue. Jam's B. Menager, a former republican, is stumping the district in the interest of free silver, while Z. T. Vinson of Huntington, state chairman of the gold democratic party, is making speeches daily for Freer. Mr. Neal, the democratic candidate, was elected mayor of Huntington when twenty-two years of age, and was widely known as "the boy mayor." He is a hus-tler, and stands a fair chance of being elected to Congress.

Summing up, it is probable that West Virginia's delegation will again consist of four republicans—Dovener, Edwards, Freer and Dayton, with the latter two somewhat

The difficulty of getting people to attend political meetings has been remarkable on both sides. Apparently they are tired of the mention of the tariff or silver question. An-nexation of the Philippines excites more interest, but there is opposition to the move in both parties, likewise friendship for it. Senator Elkins, Internal Revenue Commissioner Scott and Governor Atkinson have been actively at work looking after the republican legislative ticket, but are not enthusiastic over the way the people turn out to their meetings.

The big political event of the season in Wheeling among the republicans will be the appearance at the opera house on Friday evening of this week of Postmaster Gen-eral Charles Emory Smith and Representative Dayton. Interest in political matters that has been dormant is warming up here, and they will doubtless have a large audi-ence. There has been a notable absence of acrimony in the speech-making and in the newspapers during the campaign, and al-though the apathy has been discouraging to the spellbinders, the printed matter sent out on both sides has received general con-sideration, and there will be a thoughtful expression of the public mind November 8.

Republicans Quite Sure of Carrying All Four | Interesting Event in History of the Methedist Protestant Church.

Democrats, However, Have a Fight- Celebration in All the Churches of the Denomination-Congress Street Church Program.

> The seventieth anniversary of the Methodist Protestant Church will be celebrated by all the churches of that denomination n this city Sunday, November 13, with appropriate services. Not only will the celeoration occur in all of the churches in the District, but in Maryland as well, this city being a part of the Maryland conference. While every one of the Methodist Protestant churches will observe the anniversary, special services will be held at the Congress Street M. P. Church in Georgetown, one of the first churches of the denomination, which came into existence in 1828. Rev. W. S. Hammond, D. D., is the pres ent pastor of the church, and is regarded as one of the ablest historians in the faith. Services celebrating the occasion will be held at the church in the morning, afternoon and evening. Out of the original signers of the papers creating the Congress Street Church there is only one survivor. Street Church there is only one survivor, Mrs. Mary Angel of Southeast Washington, who is now ninety years of age, yet whose recollections of the event are still vivid. She was just a voting member of the church when she signed the paper, and being one of the youngest has survived all of the other signers. City Churches to Combine.

The afternoon services in the church will be held at 2:30 o'clock, and it will be a gathering of all of the other Methodist Protestant churches in the city. Short addresses will be delivered by many of the prominent divines, as well as by laymen who have been connected with the church during its existence. A general invitation to all who have ever been connected with the church or Sunday school is extended for program for the occasion will con-Westminster Theological from 1896 to 1897. After prayer by the pastor, Rev. Dr. W. S. Hammond, selections from the Psalms, the Gloria Patria and an anthem by the choir will follow in order.

Anniversary Address.

An address on "The Origin and Growth of the Maryland Annual Conference and the Methodist Protestant Church" will be delivered, followed by an anniversary hymn, composed by Rev. D. Truman, member of the Ohio conference of the M. P. Church. Another address, on "The Institutions of the Church," will precede a hymn. The third address will be on the "Doctrine and Polity of the Methodist Protestant Church." "Truth Abides," a hymn, by Rev. Thomas H. Stockton, D.D., will be sung by all. An address by Dr. Hammond, the singing of another hymn, and prayer and benediction will close the exercises. The names of the speakers for the occasion have not as yet been annually an armount of the speakers.

The Methodist Protestant Church is one of the smaller branches of Methodism in the United States, and, in common with all the others, looks to England and to the United States, and, in common with all the others, looks to England and to John Wesley as its home and founder. Methodism in England was not begun as a new church, nor would Mr. Wesley ever admit the possibility of its becoming such. It was primarily a revival of spiritual religion in the Church of England under the fostering care of John Wesley, a regularly ordained minister of that church.

IN MUDD'S DISTRICT.

He Will Receive a Big Majority.

Special Dispatch to The Evening Star.

UPPER MARLBORO, Md., November 4-It is the intention of the republicans to have no more speechmaking here at the county seat before the election, but meetings will be held in other sections of the county. Sidney E. Mudd's county managers are well satisfied with what has been accomplished, and the figures next Tuesday, they think, will show good results.

It is true in this county, as in others, that there has not been the enthusiasm that is shown during presidental contests, although the meetings held at different towns and cross roads throughout the county has been well attended. During the early part of the campaign very little interest in the election was shown by the party rank and file of both the democrats and republicans, but Mr. Mudd's tour of the county has aroused the republicans and interest in the contest has greatly increased. During the session of the court politi-cal orators were heard on both sides during the day and night. Some of these gatherings were large because of the attendance at court.

Wednesday night there was a republican wednesday hight there was a republican meeting at Forestville, a village between this place and Washington, and the farmers manifested considerable interest in the chaims of Representative Mudd and his party managers. Tonight there will be a republican gathering at Oxon Hill, which promises to be a big affair. In addition to Mr. Mudd, several speakers from Washington are expected to make addresses. The republican county managers are confident over the result of next Tuesday's fident over the result of next Tuesday's balloting, and while many democrats are willing to concede the elections of Mudd in the District, they are hoping that Parker, the independent republican candidate, will poll a large number of votes. This, of course, would decrease Mr. Mudd's chances, but the straightout republicans, who represent the republican party organization, have no such fears. zation, have no such fears. Parker, they urge, is merely running in the interest of Mr. Cummings, the democratic candidate, and the republican voters are being told that votes cast for him are really cast for a democrat.

The democrats are saying complimentary things about Parker. In this way they hope to draw on the colored vote in their efforts to defeat Mudd, but it is confidently expected that the colored vote will be cast almost solidly for the regular ticket.

Mr. Mudd is extremely popular with the colored people throughout the district, and more particularly with those in the lower more particularly with those in the lower counties. Some few of them who failed to get offices are disgruntled, and a few scatFINANCIAL.

This defection, it is claimed, will be more than offset in other and more thickly populated parts of the district, where, in addi-tion to his republican following, he has made some solid friends in the ranks of the democracy. Rocsevelt. So scarce was Van Wyck currency that Roosevelt money went a-begging.

The ruling quotation on Van Wyck in the morning was 7 to 10, but so quickly was the democratic money offered at these odds ac cepted that the democrats soon announced hat they had reached the end of their Jacob Fields, a Wall street broker, who had bet $7,000 on Roosevelt against $10,000 with J. E. McDonald, tried to make another big bet and falled. He offered to take 10 to 8, and later 10 to 9, but the democratic backers to whom he offered the pet that even money was all they would give.

Fields, who is regarded as a shrewd election bettor, said he believed Rooseveit was becoming stronger every day, was a nat-ural 2 to 1 favorite, and would surely be

NEW CITY RESERVOIR. Important Addition to Facilities for Supplying Water. If no unforeseen difficulties are met, a new water reservoir, with a capacity of 15,000,000 gallons, will be placed in use some time next September. This new reservoir will be built on the high tract of land lying between 16th street extended and the eastern boundary of Rock Creek Park. A little more than nine acres of ground has been purchased by the District, at a cost of about $24,000, and plans for the reservoir, which will be of two sections, are now being prepared by Mr. W. A. McFarland, superintendent of the District water department. It is the first section of this reservoir which is expected to be placed in use next September, and it will, it is believed, remove the complaints respect-ing lack of water in the middle high sec-tion, which extends, in a general way, from U street northward, and materially relieve the existing condition elsewhere. The second section, which will be of equal capacity, will be built during the next few years. This reservoir will be just about opposite to the Brightwood Driving Park to the Brightwood Driving Park, and in the building of the second section it will be necessary for the Commissioners to obtain authority from Congress to straighten the lines of the Rock Creek Park, which, as now laid out, are very irregular. The cost of the reservoir, it is believed, will be

THE SUREST WAY TO SECURE A HOME.

The Equitable loans or advances money to pay for property, pay off mortgages and for building purposes. Loans are made for seven years and three months and are repaid principal and interest in monthly installments. At any time before, however, settlements on a loan can be made in part or in full. When part of a loan is settled the monthly installments are reduced. Interest is only charged for the actual time that a loan, or any part of it, is held by the borrower-it being reduced as the loan is repaid. No commission or bonus charged. Members are extended every facility and encouragement to return loans and pay for their property. Loans have been made to 3,367 members, 2,419 of whom have settled in full. This is good evidence of the success of the borrowers in paying for their homes and other property. SHARES.
